Masterclass

Madoc by Masterclass is characterised by vertical graining on the front and back of the doors, which lends a rustic look to this clean, contemporary design. Available with or without handles, Madoc comes in seven distinctive natural-look finishes that can be combined in various creative ways, or mixed with other finishes from the Masterclass collections for a customised design. Seen here in Mayfield Oak, Madoc starts from £7500 for a complete kitchen.

InSinkErator

The gold rush continues with the arrival of InSinkErator's Brushed Gold 3N1 hot-water tap (above), priced around £800. Something of a statement piece, the 3N1 is practical too, safely delivering hot water up to 98°C, alongside regular hot and cold water options. The 3N1 also eliminates time and energy lost waiting for the kettle to boil, so what's not to love? 01923 297880 or www.insinkerator.co.uk

Gorenje

Promising to keep kitchens fresh is Gorenje's line-up of six new extractor hoods, all available in 60cm or 90cm widths. Top of the range is the IHGC963A1XUK 90cm island extractor (above) fashioned from a mix of sleek stainless steel and curved glass. Key features include Gorenje's latest extraction technology, AdaptTech, which will intuitively adjust the extraction rate according to the amount of steam or cooking fumes. Expect to spend around £549.

Grohe

Convenience was Grohe's raison d'être for updating its popular range of Eurosmart kitchen taps (left), now featuring a pull-out dual spray that simplifies cleaning, rinsing ingredients and filling pots and pans. For added versatility, a push button allows for easy switching between the two spray modes: aerator and shower. Priced from £167, choose between chrome (shown) or matt SuperSteel finishes.

Karl Lagerfeld

Karl Lagerfeld has made the crossover from couture to décor with a collection of six bed linen designs. Taking our fancy is Facet, a grown-up geometric print in sophisticated shades of grey, accessorised here with a knitted throw that adds instant texture and warmth to the bed. Prices start from £100 for the double quilt cover and from £40 for a pair of housewife pillowcases, while the Herringbone throw is £80. Find your nearest stockist on the Ashley Wilde website.

Habitat

Henry Holland is back at Habitat, bringing his brazen mix of bold pattern to the boudoir. Hero pieces include his Boho bedding, featuring a reversible patchwork design of florals and gingham on one side and a floral print in pink and yellow on the reverse, priced from £120 for a double. Also shown here is the Folklore rug, £450, hand-tufted in 100% wool yarn and carved by hand to give a 3D finish.

Nubie

Nubie welcomes French brand Laurette into the fold, which takes inspiration from mid-century furniture design for its fun collection of hand-crafted wardrobes, beds and storage units for kids. Favourites from the collection include the Toi et Moi chest of drawers, available in 11 colours and shown here in violet, priced £760.

Hansgrohe

Hansgrohe goes for gold with its new Metropol Classic collection, boasting gold accents on the base, the handles and the spouts of the mixers. All Metropol Classic mixers come equipped with EcoSmart technology, which comprises an aerator in the nozzle that reduces water flow to around 5 litres per minute. Metropol is available in three different spout heights, allowing you to match your mixer to the shape and size of your washbasin. Prices start from £449.

Gemini Tiles

If you want the warm look of wood floors without the potential drawback of swelling and warping, then wood-look tiles are the way to go. Cue the new Treverkmade collection by Gemini Tiles, capturing the stunning simplicity of timber and merging it with the functionality and durability of ceramic. The collection comprises a choice of four styles including Fume Wood, priced £49.99 per sq m.

Häfele

A classic print transforms this traditional white bathroom basin into a stunning statement piece by Häfele. Toulouse (pictured), Nordic and Castellon are all available in a choice of five floral prints applied to the inside of the bowl. Seen here is Quebec, a harmonious pattern of pastel flowers, priced around £478.
